Mr. ARTHUR JONES
8255 Beverly Boulevard
Beverly Hills, California

Mr. JONES advised in March, 1951 that he is a screen writer by profession, and that he has been fighting Communism in the left wing faction in the movie industry for a number of years.

Mr. JONES recalled that in either 1943 or 1944 he helped put on a show at Santa Ana, California, in which JOHN GARFIELD was one of the stars. He recalled that in discussing the script with GARFIELD before the show, GARFIELD strongly advocated that a serious note be placed in the script paying high tribute to Russia's participation in the war. JONES stated that he refused to do this because his serious note in the script had already been prepared and pertained to some other matter.

JONES recalled that during GARFIELD'S stay at the camp he and GARFIELD went to the Officers Club on the Base and met a General WALTON who was second in command at Santa Ana at that time. A political conversation developed between WALTON and GARFIELD, during which conversation GARFIELD took a very decided pro-Russian and pro-Communist attitude, according to the Informant, and maintained that "Russia had saved all of our necks".

JONES stated that the General was of a conservative political attitude and his views were diametrically opposed to those of GARFIELD, resulting in a very heated discussion. According to JONES, the General did not feel that Russia was as responsible for successes in the war as JOHN GARFIELD attempted to make them out to be.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

JONES recalled that during this argument with WALTON, GARFIELD spoke in glowing terms of Russia's Five Year Plans and how much these plans had done for the "little people and artists".

Mr. JONES stated that GARFIELD'S arguments boiled down to a "dissertation on the benefits of Communism". The Informant recalled GARFIELD having made the statement that if a person would study the Russian Government, he would see that their form of Government was "more democratic and beneficial to the people than our own".

Mr. JONES advised that he would say unequivocally that from the conversations he had had with GARFIELD, GARFIELD was definitely a "Communist Party-liner"; although JONES added that he himself could not definitely say that GARFIELD was a "record member" of the Communist Party.

also attacked the present (1940) intensive war drive and urged everyone present to read DALTON TRUMBO'S book, "Johnnie Got His Gun", which GARFIELD described as a powerful anti-war novel then appearing in the "Daily Worker and the "Worker".

The "Worker" is the Sunday edition of the "Daily Worker", an East Coast Communist newspaper.

Congressional Record

The Congressional Record issue of October 7, 1943, Number 148, Volume 89, contains an extension of the remarks of Honorable JOHN M. COFFEE, Washington, in the House of Representatives, at which time Mr. COFFEE stated that JOHN GARFIELD, the prominent motion picture star, had been a speaker on a program in Los Angeles and he, COFFEE, had also been a speaker. According to the record, Mr. GARFIELD spoke quite feelingly of the contributions to victory in this war (World War II) by the Soviet Union. Mr. COFFEE stated that because of his admiration of Mr. GARFIELD'S histrionic attainment, he was inserting the speech in the Congressional Record.

This speech, supposedly written by GARFIELD, stated that the "stories about Russian terror boiled down to this -- the terror of ignorance has been liquidated and the horror of poverty executed."

In this speech, speaking of the people of Hollywood and the movie colony, JOHN GARFIELD stated, "We aren't privileged to carry guns and face the enemy, but we are part of the war effort, an effective part, and my hope is that we will be part of the peace.....".

It should be noted that in the preceeding item from the "Daily Worker", JOHN GARFIELD, in 1940, was very much against the United States' war efforts.
